To Be "Bigger And Better"

The three-day New Castle fair, which draws farm and city crowds to see agricultural and commercial displays, harness racing, livestock and poultry exhibits and a host of other things, opens at the stroke of noon Tuesday.

Out at the showgrounds, off the New Castle-Harlandsburg road, polishing-up of exhibits went ahead in earnest this afternoon.

Expect Crowd
The fair high command expects larger crowds than in the immediate past, and so far as exhibits are concerned, "better than ever" is the way one prominent fair officer described them.

Sponsored by the New Castle Agricultural association, the New Castle fair has become a major community attraction which always plays to thousands. Usually scheduled for four days and nights, the show this year has been limited to three, but greater emphasis has been placed on the quality of exhibits.

The grandstand has been readied for the racing enthusiasts and for the things which will watch the feature "horse pulling contest" on Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Teams under 3,000 pounds will compete Wednesday night and teams over 3,000 Thursday night.

Tuesday's program will continue until midnight. The Wednesday and Thursday opening hours will be 7 a. m.

Included among the many departments this year, as in the past, will be the household art and home economics sections.

Horses Arriving Today
Into the horse barns today poured a steady stream of show and race horses which carry the hopes of their owners for ribbons in the various classes or for prize purses out on the race track.

There was activity everywhere, just as there always is on the day before the opening. Sponsors of the many household art displays are just as anxious to have their entries smiled on by the judges as any livestock sponsor.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Noting the steady automobile traffic of Sunday, there did not seem to be much effort at conservation of gasoline.

Gardeners are complaining that their potatoes and tomatoes are not coming along as well as they desire. They are hoping for warmer weather, especially at night.

One motorist had to fish the hubcap from his car out of a manhole at the corner of Moravia street and long avenue. Saturday, after the cap had fallen from the car and rolled down a sewer.

TOKYO, Aug. 18.—American and British, the newspaper Miyako charged today, are maneuvering to bring Japan and the Soviets into open warfare in order to frustrate Japanese expansion.

Domestically, the official Japanese news agency, added to the anti-American press campaign the comment that Japanese newspapers are showing an increasing tendency to regard the Anglo-American war aims declared as "mere camouflage" for a veritable military alliance among the United States, Britain and Russia.

Desire Exhaustion
The United States and Britain, Miyako Shimbun charged, "really desire the exhaustion of Germany, Japan and even the Soviet Union through a war of attrition."

Japanese Refuse Permission

By KINGSBURY SMITH

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The United States, it was learned today, has made strong representations to Japan over the holding of 100 American private citizens who wish to return home.

This government made the representations through diplomatic channels after it was notified by the Japanese government that the American citizens would not be permitted to board the American liner President Coolidge, which the State Department planned to send to a Nippon port to pick them up.

Jap Red Tape
It is hoped in official quarters in Washington, however, that the incident will not become a serious one. The belief prevails that the holding of the American citizens is due chiefly to Japanese red tape and that it will be possible to arrange transportation home for them in the near future.

Japan has not demanded anything in return for release of the American citizens. Nor has the Japanese government indicated that it intends to hold them for any particular length of time.

The Japanese foreign office merely refused to permit the President Coolidge to enter a Japanese port (Continued On Page Two)

Sabotage Suspected As Blaze

shoremen Trapped,
One Dead

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—At least one man was known to have been killed and 55 others injured today as explosions rocked the flame-swept freighter Ponuco in the Erie basin. There was a possibility that other persons had perished.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The greatest waterfront fire in years—possibly kindled by the torch of a saboteur—was sweeping piers and ships with destructive fury in Brooklyn's Erie basin this afternoon.

At 12:30 p. m., a short time after the fire broke out 40 persons had been taken to Holy Family and Long Island college hospitals. Several others were reported missing.

Most of the injured had been trapped in barges near the pier where the flames first were sighted.

Scene of the outbreak of the flames was Pier 27, at the foot of Baltic street, where supplies are loaded for shipment to England and Suez.

Hull Is Damaged By German Bombs

Death Toll High—Property Damage Heavy—British Bomb Bremen

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Germany for the first time in weeks resumed air blitz tactics with a deadly attack during the night on the port of Hull, but the air ministry today announced that the R. A. F. struck with equal force against Bremen and Duisburg.

Authorities feared that the death toll at Hull may reach a high figure before all the debris is cleared away.

In spite of bad weather, 100 R. A. F. bombers and a large protective force of fighters took part in the attacks on the Reich.

"Many large fires" were reported at Duisburg and Bremen. One British plane is missing.

The Luftwaffe blow against Hull, northeastern port city, was brief but intense.

High explosive and incendiary bombs fell on a densely populated area and demolished many homes. Today rescue workers worked hastily in an attempt to keep the death list at a minimum.

A few other German raiders dropped bombs in eastern and southwestern England.

German long-range guns on the French coast opened fire across the rain-swept straits of Dover shortly before midnight. A ten-minute shelling was believed aimed at a shipping convoy.

(International News Service)

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa. Aug. 18.—Six children were burned to death today when fire starting from an exploding coal stove razed their farm home within 30 minutes at nearby Grange.

Their parents and two other children were rescued.

Those killed were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Bush, as follows: Leora, 12; Fanny, 10; Curt, nine; Shirley, seven; Clay, four, and Nancy, five.

The parents carried the oldest and youngest children, Elva, 14, and Letta, two, to safety.

The flames quickly ate through the two-story frame building after the coal fire exploded, preventing the rescue of the others, witnesses said.

Bush is employed by the WPA.

Only One Fire Over Week-End

New Castle firemen received one call during the week-end.
The call, which came at 12:55 o'clock this morning, sent firemen to the corner of Mill and Taylor streets where upholstering in an automobile was on fire. About $5 damage was caused.

The car is owned by Harry Voorhees, 614 Chestnut street.

War Veteran Dies As Parade Passes

James L. Vogan Stricken In Altoona After Marching
In Legion Parade

Death came suddenly under tragic circumstances to James L. Vogan, aged 43 years, of 104 East Sheridan avenue, well known local World War veteran, and former high school grid star, at the conclusion of the parade at the state convention of the American Legion, at Altoona Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock.

Mr. Vogan collapsed from a heart attack after marching in the parade, the concluding feature of the convention, and expired while enroute to the Altoona hospital.

Had Finished March

According to members of the Perry S. Gaston Post, who had accompanied Mr. Vogan to Altoona for the windup of the convention, he had just finished marching in the parade and was standing near where the buses which would bring back the cadet band of the post, of which Vogan's son Joseph was a member, were loading, when he collapsed. He was carried to the porch of a nearby home by friends, and medical aid was summoned. The doctor ordered him taken to the hospital, but he expired on the way.

Mr. Vogan had gone to the convention largely because of the fact that his son was playing in the band, which enjoys a high reputation in state American Legion circles.

Members of Perry S. Gaston post will go to the Vogan home this evening in a body to pay their respects (Continued On Page Five)

All Men Over 28 Are Now Exempt

President Signs Order Today
—Men Over 28 In Service
To Be Discharged

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—President Roosevelt today signed long-awaited legislation providing for mandatory deferment of men over 28 from military service under the selective service act.

As finally passed by congress, the act was shorn of all controversial anti-strike provisions which would have given the president power to take over defense plants closed by labor disputes.

The law defers all men who became 28 by July 1, 1941, and those who reached that age on any subsequent July 1 while the draft act is in force.

It further provides that all men over 28 now in service be released and placed in reserve status "as soon as practicable" after they request to be discharged.

The frantic tempo of the titanic Russo-German war seemed to be slowing down today as the conflict raged into its ninth week. But tension in the Far East, already strained almost to the breaking point, was heightened as the government-controlled Japanese press charged America and Britain with trying to bring war between Russia and Japan.

Japan indicated that she did not want any.

Demand Wheat Quotas Be Set Aside In State

J. Audley Boak Named
President Of State Wheat
Growers Association

Two thousand wheat growers of Pennsylvania met in Hershey, Pa., on Friday of last week, when a permanent organization, known as the Pennsylvania Wheat Growers association, was formed, with J. Audley Boak, of Slippery Rock township, past master of the Pennsylvania State Grange, being chosen as president.

Resolutions were adopted demanding that the Federal government set aside wheat quotas and penalties, and to demand through public acclaim that this country be returned to the democratic form of government through elimination of governmental regulations, which are now closely approaching regimentation.

It was further demanded that the present set-up of the A. A. A. be abolished since it is now established as a governmental agency for the primary purpose of promoting a bureaucratic system through offering of public funds to the farmer to assure his subsistence to that bureaucratic system and also that usurpation of power by appointed officials of the government be brought to an end, and that regulations beyond any law be prohibited, and to further demand that the markets be held for the products of this country and that importations be not permitted to supply these markets while this country's production is piling up surpluses.

Addresses were made by Hon. Roland Knitzer, chairman of the agricultural committee of Congress; Hon. Miles Horst, secretary of the Pennsylvania State Grange, K. S. Bagshaw, master of the State Grange; John Bath, of Pleasantville, Ind.; Hon. William Ditter, Dick Sampson, A. R. Fenton and Harvey Tibbit, congressmen.

Other officers at the meeting include Hon. Chester Gross, of York county, vice president, Ira G. Gross, of Snyder county, secretary, and William Wiseler, of Lancaster county, treasurer.

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—The immense American-built Dnieprostroi dam, which controls power production and traffic on the lower Dnieper river, and Kherson, gateway to the Crimean, today were named as the immediate objectives of the German drive through the Ukraine.

Lulls, it was admitted, have set in on the central and northern fronts, and it was conceded further that the retreating Red army is drawing up new lines east of the Dnieper for another determined stand.

Counter Attacks

Russian forces, the Germans said, staged a series of counter-attacks in an attempt to recapture the Ukrainian iron center of Krivoy Rog, but all were repelled with heavy Red losses.

Eighty-seven Soviet tanks and 52 guns were reported captured in the fight.

(International News Service)
KEARNEY, N. J. Aug. 18.—Convinced that the federal government will take over operation of the strikebound Kearney plant of the Federal Shipbuilding & Drydock company, leaders of the CIO's industrial union of marine and shipbuilding workers today ordered the 17,000 workers to hold themselves in readiness to return to their jobs immediately.

A spokesman for the union, which called the strike at the giant shipyards second largest on the eastern seaboard, 12 days ago to enforce a closed-shop demand, said word had been received from a CIO observer in Washington that the navy was completing preparations to seize the plant.

"Dispatches from Washington indicated that an executive order to take over the shipyards was on President Roosevelt's desk awaiting action. Four government agencies, the national mediation board, the maritime commission, the office of (Continued On Page Two)

MOSCOW, Aug. 18.—Russian military authorities today asserted that the German drive in the Ukraine appears to be slowing down due to the fierce Russian resistance while the Soviets are counter-attacking on the central front and holding their own in the north.

Moscow Meeting Preparations Begin

Britons Conclude Russ Trade Pact

Call Upon Iran To Oust German "Tourists" And Technicians"

DENY DEMANDS UPON THAILAND

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON, Aug. 18.—As preparations for the forthcoming American, British and Russian meeting in Moscow moved rapidly ahead today, the following week-end diplomatic developments were announced in London:

1—Britain and Russia again called upon Iran for urgent action against German "tourists" and Nazi technicians in Iran.

2—A war trade agreement involving a British credit of 10,000,000 pounds (about $40,000,000) for Russia was reached between London and Moscow.

3—Britain and Thailand both denied reports that Britain has demanded certain concessions in Thailand, and the British Broadcasting Corporation charged that "Japanese are swarming into Bangkok in increasing numbers."

3,000 in Iran
British government authorities estimated there are some 3,000 German "tourists" and technicians in Iran. Many are said to hold positions in radio stations, telegraph offices and on railways.

For months the British government has maintained pressure on Iran to put a stop to this alleged infiltration of "excessive numbers" of Germans.

Latest representations told Tehran that Russia and Britain feared the Iranians did not appreciate the urgency of the situation. "Recommendations" were repeated that "effective measures" should be taken at an early date "if the potential menace arising from the Germans' activities is to be removed."

As soon as the new British credit for Russia is nearly exhausted, it was announced, negotiations will be opened for an increase.

Russia plans to buy rubber, tin, wool, diamonds for industrial purposes, hides and shellac. She will pay partially in platinum, hemp, glycerine and timber.

Denial Rumors
Sir Robert Brooke-Popham, British commander-in-chief in the far east, said reports that Britain demanded control of part of the railroad line in Thailand, and threatened force in the event of refusal, were "a typical flight of fancy."

The London Daily Mail today said that the gigantic bomb and gas-proof cellars under the Kremlin in Moscow are being prepared as a conference hall for the Anglo-Russian-American meetings, in order to avoid the possibility of the talks being interrupted by air raids. Sleeping accommodations, said the Mail, have been arranged underground for the conference delegates.

The first chief justice of the U. S. Supreme Court was John Jay. He later resigned and stated he did not think the Supreme Court would ever amount to much.

DAY'S WAR DEVELOPMENT

they embrace the unholy design of checking Japan's southward advance by pitting the Soviets against Japan in open hostilities.

Meanwhile, the Japanese home ministry took steps to discourage foreigners from visiting—or leaving—Japan. It was announced that there would be no more unauthorized departures, length of stay would be restricted, and place of stay specified. Also, transit visas would be restricted to a single passage through the country.

For the rest, the eyes of the world were on Washington, where President Roosevelt got down to work after his historic 13-day sea voyage, and London, where Prime Minister Winston Churchill returned after meeting the president in the Atlantic.

On the actual fighting fronts, the Russians said they have slowed up Germany's drive in the Ukraine; Berlin said the push was going ahead with untempered fury.

Bomb England

For the first time in weeks the Nazis staged a blitz attack on the English coast. The Port of Hull was badly damaged, and it was feared that the death toll would be high. The R. A. F. at the same time carried out another fairly heavy attack on Western and Northwestern Germany.

On the diplomatic fronts, Britain announced a new trade deal involving credits of $40,000,000 for Russia. London and Moscow impatiently awaited a reply from Tehran on new representations calling for swift action to rid Iran of some 3,000 German "tourists" and technicians who have allegedly filtered into Persia.

President Roosevelt was back at his desk in the White House today, and Prime Minister Churchill returned to England following the momentous war aims meeting at sea. Mr. Roosevelt called congressional leaders to White House to give them a report on the Churchill meeting.

Mr. Roosevelt also wanted to feel out present opinion in congress. Today decisions were expected on the course to be followed in getting more than 100 Americans, virtual hostages, out of Japan.

Another pressing matter was the question of Federal seizure of the Kearny, N. J. yard of the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co.

The president, it was learned, already has approved a recommendation of the army and navy high command for prompt enactment of a law imposing warlike federal censorship on the press, radio, motion picture industries and on all forms of communications in and out of the continental United States.

Initial steps, however, would restrict censorship to measures prohibiting disclosure of military secrets.

Germany said that the huge American-built Dnieper dam, which controls power production and navigation on the lower Dnieper river in the Ukraine; and Kherson, gateway to the Crimea, were the immediate objectives of the Nazi offensive.

of Russian shipbuilding has been conducted, were blown up and the port in general rendered useless to the Nazis.

"Soviet troops continue fierce fighting along the entire front," today's early bulletin, covering activity of Sunday, said.

"The Germans are pressing desperately on the southern and northern fronts.

"In the center Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's forces are checking the German advance and even counter-attacking in individual sectors."

Russian submarines were credited with sinking two large Rumanian transports in the Black sea.

A few German air raiders attempted to reach Moscow during the night, but official statements said the formations were dispersed and prevented from bombing the capital.

Official announcements did not state that the German drive in the Ukraine has been stemmed, but semi-official declarations said the German push has "lost some of its vigor."

Another Smolensk

Russian quarters predicted that the eastern Ukraine would develop into "another Smolensk"—the German might take the area, but only at the cost of losses badly crippling the Reich's war effort.

Even now, said the Russians, the Germans are "sustaining heavy losses in man-power."

In fighting near the town of "M," said a government announcement, more than 5,000 German warriors were slain. Residents of "M" said the Germans forced practically everybody in the town to dig common graves for the slain Germans.

"but even this proved insufficient." The announcement asserted that "German officers then ordered sappers to lay mines to dig graves by explosions."

The London Daily Herald reported from Istanbul that a huge new Russian army, as yet unfired in battle, is being formed along a 400-mile line stretching from the sea of Azov to Astrakhan on the Caspian sea to defend the oil well and pipeline between Batum and Baku. The line is deeply fortified, said the Herald, and preparations have been made to defend the whole pipeline in a single day, if necessary.

HOMEWARD BOUND AMERICANS HELD

for the purpose of picking up the private citizens, although it was willing to let the liner enter and take aboard about 20 American officials to return home. Two theories are held here as to the reason for the Japanese foreign office's action in drawing a distinction between American private citizens and officials.

One is that the American government's request was made rather hurriedly because the President Coolidge was about to leave Shanghai for home, and no Japanese foreign office official may have wanted to accept responsibility for approving the request without consultation with higher authorities.

The second theory is that the refusal may have something to do with the Japanese government's efforts to persuade the United States to agree to a resumption of normal trade relations, now at a virtual standstill as a result of this government's imposition of drastic economic sanctions against the Nippon empire.

production management, and the navy, all were understood to have recommended the commandeering of the shipyard.

Still Picket
Despite their confidence that the government is about to step in, the union's call for the assembling of the 10,000 members of 28 New Jersey unions for mass-picketing at the plant at 11 o'clock this morning was not rescinded. Police, who have called out reserves, issued radio warnings to the general public to keep away from the shipyards. Only unionists will be allowed to approach.

The picketing demonstration by the CIO has been planned, according to union officials, as a defiant gesture in reply to Albert W. Hawks, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, who called the strikers "unpatriotic" in a statement last week.

Meanwhile, a new strike loomed at the plant which has $450,000,000 in construction contracts. Four hundred members of the AFL international union of operating engineers, who at first refused to go through the CIO picket line, but who were granted permission to do so, were reported prepared to demand that the company put union men on a dredge now manned by non-union help.

Still Picket
Despite their confidence that the government is about to step in, the union's call for the assembling of the 10,000 members of 28 New Jersey unions for mass-picketing at the plant at 11 o'clock this morning was not rescinded. Police, who have called out reserves, issued radio warnings to the general public to keep away from the shipyards. Only unionists will be allowed to approach.

HUGE RUSSIAN DAM GERMAN OBJECTIVE

Sea ports, Kherson, near the mouth of the Dniester 45 miles southeast of Nikoliev, already has been cut off. German military authorities said.

Russia admitted evacuation of Nikoliev and Krivoy Rog, center of the area which produces more than 60 per cent of the Soviet iron and steel supplies.

Heavy bombers of the Luftwaffe severely damaged the Soviet air base at Saporoshie, south of the Dnieper Bend, it was announced. Twenty-five Red bombers were destroyed on the ground, while hangars and ammunition dumps were blasted.

Desperate Soviet attempts to break out of encircling "iron rings" on the Central front were repulsed with heavy losses, it was declared.

Nazi military officials said the capture of the Dnieperostroi dam—"the Boulder dam of Russia"—even if it is taken only half-way intact, will prove one of Chancellor Hitler's richest prizes.

The dam is situated at Dniepropetrovsk, 200 miles northeast of Kherson.

Odesa meanwhile remains under siege by Rumanian troops who with the aid of German artillerymen, are subjecting the great grain port to constant shell-fire while the Luftwaffe hammers Russian shipping in an attempt to cut off the escape of trapped Red units.

The high command announced that German fighter planes shot down two of three Red bombers attempting to bomb the Rumanian Black Sea port of Constanza Sunday. All bombs fell into the sea.

German planes were credited with "largely destroying" the important Ukrainian rail junction of Gorodice, where a train was blown up. A Soviet transport of 5,000 tons, the Germans added, was crippled by direct bomb hits off the Crimean west coast.

The Stalin Canal, which links the Gulf of Finland with the White Sea, was described as so badly damaged that Red naval units no longer are able to steam through the channel.

THE HARMFULNESS OF TOO MUCH CREDIT
The price of judicious economy, is one of the prime essentials to success. Economy, like intelligence and uniform work, is constructive—and no one can hope to enjoy real independence, who does not keep his expenditures well within the limit of his income.

The reckless spending of money quickly becomes a habit, and those who allow themselves to be enslaved by extravagance are burdened under the triple load of past, present and future obligations, without sufficient funds to meet them.

Miss Betty Rice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Myron Rice, of Leisure avenue, was married to J. Walter Green, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Green, of Garfield avenue, at a lovely ceremony at 10:30 this morning, in Wallace Memorial chapel of Westminster college.

Dr. Robert Ferguson Galbreath, president of the college, officiated. Organ music, including a Westminster song, "Tell Me Why," "I Love You Truly," and "Mendelssohn's Wedding March," was played by Garth Edmondson.

Gowned in a street length frock of deep-water blue, the bride wore a leghorn hat with streamers matching her dress, and a corsage of orchids.

After the service a wedding breakfast was served for a group of close friends and the immediate families, at The Tavern, in New Wilmington.

Upon their return from an eastern trip the young couple will be "at home" to their friends in their new residence, on Lincoln avenue, in New Wilmington.

The bride is a graduate of Westminster college, where she was a member of Chi Omega. She has been employed at the New Castle Store. Mr. Green was graduated from Tri-State college, in Angola, Ind., and is an employee of the Westinghouse, in Sharon.

Those attending from here were Mr. and Mrs. William Patterson, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Horcher of Hillcrest avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. William Patterson, Jr., of the Butler road. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tipples and daughter, Dorothy, and son, Raymond, of Gillespie, Ill., relatives of the local party, were also present.

Over a hundred joined in the picnic dinner served at 12:30 at Groundhog Park, Punxsutawney, the highlight of the day's festivities. Informal diversions and reminiscing were additional pleasures on the informal program.

The New Castleites returned here late Sunday evening.

SARA LOUISE LAWTON WEDS RAYMOND NEWMAN

A pretty wedding of Saturday afternoon was that which took place at 1:45 o'clock when Miss Sara Louise Lawton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lawton of 1015 Adams street, became the bride of Raymond Newman, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Newman, R. D. 4, this city, at the Lawton residence.

The bridal party stood before a beautifully improvised altar in the living room, an arrangement of summer flowers adding to the colorful setting, where the vows were exchanged in the presence of relatives and close friends of the young couple. Rev. Robert E. Douglas of the Neshannock U. P. church officiated with the double ring service.

Preceding the entrance of the bride, Miss Nancy Mack sang "I Love You Truly" and "Oh Promise Me." The Lohengrin's Wedding March was resounded immediately following, with Miss Pearl Gibbons at the piano.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attractive in a gown of white satin, patterned along princess lines, and her veil was fingertip length. She carried a white colonial bouquet of roses and a crescent of gardenias adorned her hair. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Betty Lawton, as her sister's maid of honor, was attired in a coral tulle gown, floor length, and carried an arm bouquet of Talisman roses. Little petite Martha Jo Hill, as flower girl, donned a pink frock for the occasion.

Serving as best man was Paul Newman of Cleveland.

Members of the bridegroom, while ushering were Jack Lawton and Harry Newman, brothers of the principals.

Supplementing the ceremony, a reception was held at the Lawton home, after which the couple left on a wedding trip through Western Pennsylvania. For traveling, Mr. Newman chose a smartly tailored ensemble in blue.

The bride, a graduate of New Castle High school with the January class of 1937, has been employed at the local Woolworth store. Mr. Newman graduated from Eastbrook High with the June class of 1936, and is employed at the National Tube of Ellwood City.

A series of lovely parties have been given in honor of the couple, and they have received a large collection of lovely and useful gifts from their newly furnished apartment on Adams street, where they will be "at home" to friends after September 1.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SOME MOTHERS INSPIRING

Some of the most inspiring letters I receive are those from mothers with low incomes. How they do so well with several little children amazes me.

One mother of two boys, 5 years and 16 months, writes about the older who is nervous. She concludes that the chief source of the trouble is in the strain and worry of her husband and herself over trying to make ends meet on $18 a week. To quote from her:

"We are behind in the rent. We are behind paying for fuel oil, too. But otherwise (except for the $40 we still owe for Hubby's teeth) we are not in debt. Oh—the light bills are a month behind too. But it is hard to figure out how to pay the bills and still have enough to eat. I wish I could give the youngsters more fruit. They get their morning orange juice regularly and I try to give them lots of vegetables, but one can't do too much.

Effects On Child
"My husband feels badly because he is not getting more for us and, though we are happy on the whole, he still feels that every time I look tired I am worried about money. That is why I have to try not to be tired.

"Do you think this is what ails Larry (the five-year-old)? I know I have my effect on him, but I try not to act tired or nervous—but children always know, don't they? Improved finances would help. I know—certainly as far as my nerves and my husband's good nature are concerned.

"Could you send me a list of books for a five-year-old? Larry has a bedtime story at night. It is our solution to dawning.

"I feel as far as his schedule goes. I am doing fairly well, but it is my attitude and his father's which bother me. Perhaps you could suggest something."

Admiral Poise

I wish I had space for all the letter from this remarkable young mother. I sent her the list of books and told her how I admired her poise, skill and wisdom in the face of all her difficulties, assuring her that in her place few others could do half so well. I suggested that she and Dad show more affection to Larry and less in his presence to the baby, and that she continue to encourage her husband to spend more time with Larry, read more to him and do more things with him; that, moreover, she compliment her husband more often for increased interest in Larry.

Tomorrow I shall quote further from this mother's letter showing her resourcefulness in finding personal outlets and furthering her family's happiness, on only $18.00 a week.

Anybody else may have, without cost, my selected list of books to read to the baby and young child by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. Suppose a teacher has a mother who has been an invalid for years and finds her care so great that she can not always be poised and patient in her classroom. What are this teacher's moral and civic obligations?

A. Either she should resign or spend a reasonable portion of her salary to hire competent care for her mother. She is employed by the public to give her best to the children she teaches.

The World and the Mud Puddles

GOOD NEWS

At this time last year, the year before that, and the year before that, the man more than forty years of age was as unnecessary, economically speaking, as ice skates at Alcatraz. He couldn't even buy a job. Employers, struggling with depression worries, could fill his place well enough with a boy half his age—at half the salary.

Values go a little askew when depression panic comes along, and judgment is apt to suffer a bit. So the man with his first gray hairs and a broadening girth, regardless of his experience and training, came to be regarded more of a liability than an asset.

Today, with times bettered by defense activities, employers are finding out, something they knew all along if they'd thought it out; men with years of training in business, labor or industry behind them, possess the most valuable of all advantages—experience.

Today, when men are in such demand that there is a serious shortage in many lines. The supply of capable men is being absorbed fast and green men are so numerous that the aircraft industry is pleading with job seekers at its gates, to school themselves for even a few months in some phase of aircraft building before applying for work. Employers are more than ready to pay a new high of almost 200,000 in the last quarter of 1940, an increase of almost 75,000 over the last quarter of 1939!

Few master craftsmen today are much under forty and few efficient businessmen are as competent and as necessary in our new high-speed defense economy, until they've served their apprenticeship and acquired at least a few silver hairs.

Youth has its place and tremendously important one; but men of experience and judgment are coming into their own again, too, as indicated by the figures of the Labor Department and the State Employment Agency. It is good news for armies of competent, experienced men. And good news for the U. S. A. as well.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:53; sun rises tomorrow 5:15.

Many of the movie actresses would be wearing long skirts if it wasn't for their legs.

Any friends of A. S. McKay (Ed) who would like to write him can write him at Box 325, St. Cloud, Florida. He is still in bed suffering from a broken leg. He will appreciate any letters or cards from his friends in Lawrence county.

The meanest persons are often the ones who will tell you what they really think of you.

A gal was asked what kind of a man she liked. "Tall, dark and handsome," said she. "I know a man I'd marry right now if I could." And he's a beauty.

"Well," said the doctor, secretly amused, "I get a pretty good fee. Why?"

"Well, doc, I hopes yer won't forget that my Willie threw the bricks that hit him."

Teacher: "Willie, how many times have you whispered today?" Willie: "Onct."

Teacher: "Onct; that's very poor language. What should he have said, Sammy?" Sammy: "Twict."

"A young man whom I have known for about 6 months has asked me to marry him. I have told him 'yes.' And now we are concerned as to whether he must see my father, as men did in the old days. He thinks I should make the announcement to my family without any preliminaries by him. Just how is this situation handled in these modern days?"

Answer: The old surprise element of secretly asking Papa for daughter's hand, amid much stammering and embarrassment is a technique long gone into oblivion. However there must be some understanding with the girl's family. Therefore, some kind of conference must take place. The young man will make a much better impression on your parents if you bring your plans out into the open rather than suddenly appear with an engagement ring and the announcement that you will be married. If your fiancé is too shy to go alone to your father, you might go along with him, while he says something of this sort: "France has consented to marry me and I just wondered if you and her mother consider me eligible to become a member of the family." This formality is merely a courtesy to the girl's parents, since the young man would surely have known long before if her parents did not approve of him. They will, nevertheless, appreciate this gesture of obtaining their approval before sealing the bond with an engagement ring.

Question: I have heard that it is always proper, at a large party or tea, to speak to guests to whom you have not been introduced. Is this correct?—E. R.

Answer: At small gatherings, of course, everyone is introduced to everyone else. But at large parties, such as wedding receptions, teas you may speak to those seated near you, even though you have not been introduced. You should do this, especially, should you find yourself seated near a stranger who looks lonely and neglected.

Question: I have heard various pronouncements of the following words. Please straighten me out on them: (1) Vaudeville, is it vaudeville; (2) menu, is it maynoo; (3) Chauffeur, is it show-fur emphasis on the last syllable?—M. J. J.

Answer: (1) Vode-veal; (2) menu; (3) how-fur—emphasis on the last syllable.

Dictatorship Threat Worries Many
Aftermath Of War May Bring Danger
Republican Chairman Martin Warns

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Congressional opposition to President Roosevelt's foreign policies isn't in reality, very much objection to his foreign policies, so long as they stay foreign.

A few spokesmen, like Senators Burton K. Wheeler and Gerald P. Nye object to them even for foreign speaking, on the ground that their tendency is strongly toward, which they don't like. In general, however, the critics say they find little fault with the administration's shaping of our international relationships, as such. What they suspect, they explain, is that F. D. R. is acquiring, in connection with purported emergency necessities, an executive control over our domestic government, which they think the White House will be unwilling to surrender after the world emergency has passed.

Chairman Joseph W. Martin of the Republican national committee put it plainly the other day when he warned the country that he's fearful of a "post-war dictatorship."

It isn't altogether that the anti-dictatorship alarmists are averse to a temporary surrender of considerable legislative authority to the government's executive branch, in the face of a crisis, with quick decisions almost imperative. What scares 'em is the personality of the particular chief executive to whom they are asked to make the surrender to, right now.

Congressman Jesse P. Wolcott clearly expressed this idea recently in the course of a cross-questioning of National Price Fixer Leon Henderson, as a witness before the representatives' banking committee.

It May Be Different

Jesse's thesis was that the business regulations desired by the administration, and advocated by Leon, threaten the permanent destruction of American "free enterprise."

Answered Leon, "Similar regulations, adopted during the last World war, didn't destroy free enterprise. It subsequently was restored and we've had it ever since."

"Ah," said Jesse, "but there's a vast difference. In 1917 we were confident that the emergency powers then voted to Woodrow Wilson would be returned to the people at the emergency's end. But this time?"

Congressman Wolcott's implication was obvious: President Wilson was a trusted democrat, depended on not to WANT to be a dictator any longer than it was necessary for him to be one, whereas Jesse, at least, doesn't feel so sure of F. D. R. or not sure at all.

I'm far from arguing that these innuendoes are justified. All I do is to mention 'em, in explanation of some of the voting that's being done on Capitol Hill. There unquestionably are lawmakers who vote "no" on issues on which they'd vote "aye" if they weren't skeptical of the administration's intentions later on. I'm sure of it because they tell me so.

Congressman Joe Martin, previously referred to, a Republican leader in the House of Representatives, as well as national committee member.

Police Magistrate Alf O. Ahlstrand of Rockford, Ill., went through a long day of cases in the traffic court over which he presides.

When he was through and got into his car, he found, tied to the wheel, a ticket for overtime parking.

Incensed, he intended to make a protest to the chief of police.

Then he thought it over and decided to put reverse English on the ancient rule, "Judge not lest ye be judged."

"To judge others, you must let yourself be judged," he said to himself, and paid the fine.

A Halt Called?

Washington, Aug. 19.

AS a rule, it is easy to forecast Congressional action about certain things. For example, there is the established fact that no omnibus soldier-pension proposal has ever been permanently defeated. Rejected once, twice, and occasionally three times, they always pass in the end. It is the same way with farm legislation. Since the formation of the first farm bloc, back in the Taft Administration, Congress has never been able to resist the demands of the unified farm lobby.

BUT in many other matters the ways of Congress are inexplicable and unpredictable. Take the question of appropriations. When this session opened last January, it did so with the President laying down the extremely sound doctrine that while many billions would be needed for defense it was essential that every non-defense expenditure be cut. With that practically everybody, except the ultra-New Deal group, was in accord. It seemed as clear that the President should be denied nothing needed for national defense as that every other appropriation should be reduced to the minimum.

IN a crisis such as he had outlined to the nation, nothing else made sense. Yet, the astounding fact is that not only did Mr. Roosevelt run counter to his own recommendation but Congress made no single serious move in that direction. On the contrary, while the latter enthusiastically complied with the tremendous defense demands, at the same time it cravenly yielded to farm, labor and other pressure groups, so that the normal non-defense expenditures for this and the next fiscal year are greatly increased instead of greatly reduced. For this there was some excuse for Congress—though not much. In addition to having no White House leadership, it had the very bad example of a President whose acts nullified his words.

TO those who have been concerned over the increasing unsteadiness of the Federal financial structure, as year by year debt and deficit piled up.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON.—Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson explains to the army the reason for extension of service.

"Our army and its air force must be prepared to meet enemies coming from the north, from the east, from the south and from the west."

TRINIDAD, Colo.—Former President Herbert Hoover says his sole role in public life now is to keep the country out of war.

"I am optimistic over the future of America provided we don't get into war and I'm not speculating on our chances of getting into war."

NEW YORK.—Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, terms the nation's weakness "apathy and moral indifference."

"No Nazi power, or any other power, could harm this country if the people would arouse themselves to the dangers threatening them today."

WASHINGTON.—Dr. Thomas Parrish, surgeon general of the U. S. Public health service, issues a call for 50,000 young women to become nurses.

"An acute shortage of nurses exists today, and should the country declare war at any time in the future the need for more nurses would mount astronomically."

BIRTHDAYS OF FAMOUS AMERICANS

(Compiled by Encyclopedia Britannica)

AUGUST 18

1774—Meriwether Lewis, explorer, near Charlottesville, Va. He became famous as leader of the first American expedition overland to the Pacific, in which he was associated with Lieut. William Clark. Leaving St. Louis in May, 1804, this expedition reached the mouth of the Columbia River November 15, after traveling more than 5,000 miles.

1807—Charles Francis Adams, diplomatist, at Boston. He performed his greatest public service as minister to Great Britain from 1860 to 1868, which covered the difficult Civil War period, and later as a member of the Geneva tribunal that settled the "Alabama" claims.

1835—Marshall Field, Chicago merchant, at Conway, Mass. In 1865 he organized the firm which subsequently became Marshall Field & Company. His public benefactions were large and numerous.

JAPANESE IN HAWAII

AMONG the other problems faced by the United States is that of the Hawaiian-born Japanese, who automatically become citizens at birth. There are about 120,000 of these citizens in the islands, constituting a fairly large percentage of the population. The problem of their loyalty daily grows more acute, for Japan looks upon these people as her subjects. Tokyo has always maintained that any person of Japanese descent is still a Japanese, no matter where he was born or where he chooses to live.

It is now understood that some of these Japanese-Americans wish to end the awkward situation by having the United States formally dissolve the allegiance to Japan by means of a law. But it is to be doubted that any legal declaration will meet the situation, for the Japanese in Hawaii have not shown themselves to be solidly in accord with the American way. They may live in Hawaii and reap all the benefits of American citizenship, but when they choose to visit it is to Japan they go, not to the United States. They still look to Tokyo for guidance, not to Washington.

An investigation into the activities of the Japanese in Hawaii reveals some of the facets of this troublesome situation. Virtually all the Japanese have been formed into organizations to perpetuate the Japanese language, customs and religion. Money has been collected steadily from them to aid the Japs in their attempted domination of the East. Clothing, foodstuffs and other materials have been shipped over to Nippon to aid the cause. When the government clamped down on this racket, smuggling was attempted, and when this, too, was circumvented, the Hawaiian-born Japs found other ways to keep this money flowing.

These are not activities of a people who love their country, no matter how much they may profess to cherish American ideals. There is only one way in which they may prove their loyalty, and that is to renounce their allegiance to Japan by maintaining American principles in every manner. If these hyphonated Americans desire to be the kind of citizens they say they want to be, it should be easy for them to break off ties with a country from which their forefathers came.

AN ORIENTAL INTERVIEW

With a degree of enterprise characteristic of Japanese journalism, the influential Tokyo newspaper Nichi Nichi has obtained a trans-Pacific telephone interview with Kaname Wakasugi, a member of Ambassador Nomuri's staff at Washington with the rank of minister. Mr. Wakasugi was at Los Angeles, en route home.

The purpose of Minister Wakasugi's trip home is to explain the attitude of the United States toward further Japanese expansion southward. He is going home, according to his own statement, to answer this interrogation: "What are the Anglo-American powers going to do regarding the Thailand question?"

Mr. Wakasugi's answer, given to the newspaper Nichi Nichi, is as follows:

"I don't think the United States will start anything with Japan, so the attitude depends solely on Japan. I think the United States is prepared and determined to meet the worst eventualities."

If the Japanese government can be made to share this opinion, then Mr. Wakasugi's pilgrimage home can have historic consequences. If Japan becomes convinced that the period of Occidental forbearance is ended, there is still hope that hostilities in the Far East can be averted.

LITTLE EVA DIES

Seventy-six years have elapsed since the last shot was fired in the Civil War. Years before that—thirteen to be exact—a little girl of four wrung tender hearts as the original Little Eva in "Uncle Tom's Cabin." The play, quickly pirated from the novel by Harriet Beecher Stowe, published in 1852, had tremendous success in the United States and in England, with morning, noon and night performances in New York.

For eight seasons, until her growth precluded her taking the role of a tot, little Cordelia Howard played the part, enriching her actor-manager father and her actress mother, and then retired from the stage forever. She has just died on Cape Cod at the age of 93, after a widowhood of fifty-four years, one of the last remaining links to an historic past.

Born in Connecticut of intellectual New England stock, daughter of an eminent divine and active abolitionist, Mrs. Stowe from her infancy had a horror of slavery. When her father became president of Lane Theological Seminary at Cincinnati she lived for eighteen years just across the Ohio River from slave territory.

The home of her father and later that of her husband, Prof. Calvin Ellis Stowe, were important stations on the "underground railway" for slave fugitives to Canada. Frequently she visited in the South and studied slavery at close range. It was in 1852, at the age of 41, when her husband was a professor at his alma mater, Bowdoin, in Maine, that she wrote her famous novel, of which 500,000 copies were sold in five years.

In the ensuing years there have been hundreds of Uncle

Like all of us, Gerson gets lots of mail from senators and congressmen, but this is the first time he received mail addressed to about 600 other voters all over the nation. The Washington post office, or some postal post, spotted Gerson's own envelope on top and must have concluded the whole box of mail was for him.

Jack kept his own copy today and said the post office could have the rest. Maybe he's read Voorhis' speech, maybe not.

Other sections of the press published the conviction that positive measures against Japan already have been agreed upon by Washington, London and Moscow.

Commenting on reports that Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek is planning to visit Moscow, authoritative quarters said that this, if true, indicates the Chungking government is taking advantage of defense co-operation between the United States and the Soviet to make a desperate appeal for Soviet war aid.

It shows further, it was added, that Chungking is gravely in need of assistance as a result of Japanese blockade and bombing attacks.

change in Japanese-Soviet relations, and final agreement is soon expected on the Soviet-Manchukuo border pact.

Domei, quoting the Japanese press bureau attached to the Japanese fleet, reported that Japanese naval planes yesterday staged a heavy raid on Kunming Yunnanfu, capital of China's Yunnan province.

Direct hits were said to have been scored on government buildings, and numerous fires started. (A Tokyo broadcast picked up by CBS in New York asserted that the Chungking government is preparing to build 14 air fields in four provinces of China for the use of the United States, Britain and Russia.)

As a result of this view, Nippon adopted a more defiant attitude, Captain Hideo Hiraide, spokesman for the navy, asserted that an economic war already is being waged between the United States and Japan.

America, he hinted, is seeking bases in Siberia and China, "to complete the encirclement of Japan." If this encirclement continues, said Capt. Hiraide, "Japan will be driven to make a decision involving her life or death."

federal agencies that the government take over the strike bound Kearny, N. J., yard of Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock Corp.

Early said that as soon as the long meeting with the legislators was concluded, Mr. Roosevelt would turn his attention to this problem, involving 16,000 CIO shipyard workers, and $493,000,000 worth of naval construction, tied up for 11 days by strike action.

At the president's request, his secretaries made no engagements for him following the legislative conference so he could turn to an accumulation of important paper work. The chief executive planned to lunch with lease-lend administrator Harry Hopkins and discuss problems of Russian and British aid and the forthcoming Moscow conference.

Secretary Early said the bill extending by at least 18 months the service period of selectees, Guardsmen, and reserves had reached the White House late last Friday night and been sent to the budget bureau for check. It will be returned today and will be signed as soon as it is received.

Loaded Desk

The president returned to his desk confronted with a number of problems of the first water, both international and domestic. During the day decisions are anticipated on:

1. The course this government will pursue to get over 100 Americans held as virtual hostages, out of Japan.

2. The question of federal seizure of the Kearny, N. J., yard of federal shipbuilding and dry dock corporation, whose president, L. H. Kornegorff, has rejected recommendations of the national defense mediation board in the company's dispute with CIO shipworkers.

Vice-president Wallace senate majority leader Barkley and house majority leader McCormack were called in to hear about the dramatic meeting with Churchill which resulted in a complete understanding on necessary steps to bring about "final destruction of the Nazi tyranny."

Speaker Rayburn was unable to be present because of a speaking engagement in Cincinnati.

Congressional recess

Mr. Roosevelt has not yet aired his views on the congressional decision to take a month off. Some of his aides recalled that last summer when the president wanted congress to adjourn, the legislators decided in view of the national emergency it was their duty to stand constantly by.

At that time, Mr. Roosevelt had said he wanted no more immediate legislation. Today, White House aides point out, there is a great amount of legislative assistance desired by the president.

In the field of foreign affairs, Mr. Roosevelt conferred Sunday with Secretary of State Hull immediately following return from his cruise. The Japanese crisis unquestionably was a foremost problem of debate, as was future attitude of the U. S. government toward France since complete capitulation of Vichy to Nazi Germany.

Reporters who met the presidential party at Rockland, Me., Saturday and rode into Washington with those who had participated in the Roosevelt-Churchill conferences got the distinct impression that a stern and unyielding policy is to be maintained with respect to Japan.

During the course of that train ride, President Roosevelt got a first-hand report on the Kearny shipyard dispute from Adlai Stevenson, special administrative assistant to Secretary of the Navy Knox, who boarded the special at Portland, Me. It was reported that Stevenson advised the chief executive that navy, maritime commission and O. P. M. officials favored the seizure of the yard to meet the urgent need for ships. The dispute has tied up $493,000,000 of naval and merchant ship construction.

During the coming week, a series of swift-moving actions are expected to implement the understandings reached at sea by the American and British high commands.

Query South America

Observers believed it probable that the other 20 American republics are being sounded out to determine collective policy with respect to French-owned Martinique in the West Indies and French Guiana on the South American mainland should Germany force Vichy into permitting any aggressive moves.

Working with Lend-Lease Administrator Harry Hopkins and British Supply Minister Lord Beaverbrook, the President will shortly determine how much more money is to be asked of Congress for aid to Britain and China. It is being freely forecast in Washington that another $7,000,000,000 or more will be sought.

Russian aid, on a cash basis, is another pressing matter upon which the President has set his aides to work. Since hearing Churchill's reports, Mr. Roosevelt believes the Soviet army could beat the Nazi juggernaut until early Russian winter sets in. It was obvious that the President and the British prime minister had come to an understanding about their respective roles in helping Stalin's forces through to the spring.

Moscow Meeting

In this connection, announcement during the week is expected of the American and British officials who will go to Moscow to confer with the Soviet leader. Harry Hopkins already has visited Stalin, looks to be a second time, and has been traveling affected by health. Maj. Gen. James H. Burns, Hopkins' right-hand man and a participant in the high seas conference, is another, as is Maj. Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air Corps, who also sat in at the sea meeting.

One immediate move against the Axis powers was the placing of many new items under export-control.

At the President's instructions Gen. Control Administrator Gen. Maxwell placed under the licensing system practically all wood pulp, metals and manufactures, machinery and vehicles, rubber and rubber goods and chemicals and related products not listed in previous schedules. It was emphasized that the British empire and nations of the western hemisphere and all other countries resisting aggression may be granted general licenses.

Five Hundred Attend Annual Trip To Shrine At Carey, Over Week-End

A group of New Castle people, numbering to approximately 500, attended the week-end visit to the shrine of the Mother of Consolation held at Carey, O.

The Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita, pastor of St. Vitus church, attended as a guest, and was celebrant at the mass Sunday morning. Father DeMita also delivered an inspiring sermon on Our Lady of Consolation.

Those who attended traveled by train and a few motored to Carey. Appropriate services were conducted every half hour at Carey.

Mrs. Concetta Leonardo was in charge of arrangements for the locals, and Mrs. Lenze was in charge of arrangements for those attending from Ellwood City.

What's What At A Glance

tee chairman, has just appointed a G. O. P. minority congressional committee to determine, if it can, the shape that American "small business" will find itself in at the war's end. He thinks it's liable to be completely absorbed, as individual little units, by emergency governmentalization. Joe does not speak so much of wee retailers, as of small caliber industries, employing up to, but not above, 200 hands apiece.

After the War

All these activities forecast a queer kind of a post-war and post-emergency political realignment.

The New Deal came in as extremely liberal. Conservatism was solidly agin it. Next election day, it's due to be represented as totalitarian. It may not be that way, but that's how it will be described by its opponents. Totalitarianism is denounced as despotic—which certainly isn't liberal. Will despotism conservatives endorse it on that ground? They don't act like it now. But, if it's despotic, will liberals like it? Well, it calls itself liberal—and has, from the first.

Charley Lindbergh predicts a revolution.

Yeah, a revolution! Which way? Maybe some entirely new sort of a socio-politico-economic philosophy has got to be invented. There are Communism and Fascism and Falangism available to be stirred in. But perhaps democracy will triumph. The heck of it is that that also is all mixed up.

TRUCKERS SCORE GOVERNOR'S VETO

the main highway system, over which the vast majority of heavy truck traffic travels, is less capable of maintaining loads now than it was 10 years ago. This is, in effect, an admission that highway progress has stood still for the past decade in Pennsylvania, while in all surrounding states it has advanced. Must industry be impeded by this "Chinese wall" around Pennsylvania, merely because the state assumed responsibility for a rural highway system 10 years ago? the committee asked higher and grew deeper, the situation hardly could have been worse. Recognizing the unintelligence of stifling (and not desiring to stifle) defense funds, they were appalled—first, by the refusal of both Congress and the Executive to retrace in the obvious and indicated directions; second, by the inadequacy and unsoundness of the tax program. With all restraint removed and no brakes holding, it certainly looked as though the runaway could not be stopped short of the terrible and inevitable bump at the bottom of the hill.

AND then, suddenly, last week the Senate appropriations committee, by unanimous vote, cut a billion and a quarter dollars out of the administration's first supplemental defense appropriation bill for the new fiscal year. Part of the cut was, to be sure, restored later on. The Senate itself accepted the committee's reduction, but an appeal by the secretary of war while the bill was in conference rest in an effort to put back $750,000,000, even with this

Federal Reserve Moves To Check Price Inflation

Will Limit Installment Payments To Eighteen Months With Set Down Payments

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The federal reserve board is moving swiftly to check anticipated inflationary price rises through a tentative draft of regulations limiting installment buying.

Carrying out President Roosevelt's recent order, the regulations were sent out by the board of credit agencies throughout the country. They are designed to affect new purchases only, and not existing contracts. Mainly, the limitations call for:

1. Eighteen month limitation on installment payments on virtually all purchases, although the down payment may vary.

2. One-third down payment on new or used cars, with balance to be paid in not less than 18 months.

3. Aircraft, power boats, outboard motorboats and motorcycles, one-third down.

4. Twenty per cent down on oil burners, furnaces, water heaters, plumbing and sanitary fixtures and air conditioning for homes.

5. No specific down payment would be required to finance purchase of materials and services in connection with home repairs, provided the deferred balance did not exceed $1,000, but the limitation on installments would apply.

DAIRY COW NEEDS LOTS OF WATER TO PRODUCE MILK

(International News Service)
CHICAGO—A recent experiment conducted at the Michigan State college proves that a dairy cow as a manufacturing plant for milk requires volumes of water.

The three-year-old Holstein used for the experiment was a good producer. She turned out 12,915 pounds of milk containing 367 pounds of butter fat in a year. Dr. C. F. Huffman, dairy nutrition specialist, metered the water consumed by his heavy producer and reported she drank 34,985 pounds of water, or nearly 17½ tons.

Cows that were given access to water twice a day increased production 4 per cent when given drinking cups. Other milkers watered once a day increased production 11 per cent when drinking cups gave them access to more water.

Briefly, it takes three times as much water as a cow produces in milk, although in hot weather the amount will increase proportionately.

U. S. Navy Notes Of Interest Here

Lawrence Joseph Kelch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Kelch, 415 Spruce street, and Robert Leo Latsko, son of Michael Latsko, Rigby, Pa., enlisted in the U. S. Navy to serve until they become twenty-one years of age.

James Clark Brown, Transfer, Pa., enlisted in the U. S. Naval Reserve to serve for the period of his minority.

The three young men were sent to the Naval Training Station, Newport, R. I., for six weeks basic training prior to further assignment to some unit of the fleet or a vocational school.

More than the usual number of Navy uniforms were seen in New Castle during the past week. The following young men have been enjoying leave periods at the homes of their relatives:

William "Bill" McClintock Magee, 218 Falls street, and Perry Oliver Pherson, R. D. No. 3, Volant, Pa., nine days leave from the Naval Training Station, Newport, R. I. Magee and Pherson have successfully passed the competitive examination for assignment to the Aviation Mechanists' Mate School at the expiration of their leave period will be sent to the aviation base, Jacksonville, Fla.

Victor Metta, 1111 Agnew street,

15 days leave from the Aircraft Carrier Ranger, Metta is doing clerical work in the "log room" chief engineer's office and is looking forward to being rate yeoman.

James Ross, 833 S. Mill street, 14 days leave from the Battleship Texas.

Michael Kovacs, 25 Bluff street, 20 days leave from the Cruiser Helena.

Robert W. Washabaugh, 302 New Castle street, New Wilmington, Pa., was home over the week-end with the good news that he had soloed and received three up checks "thumbs up" which means he has successfully completed his elimination flight training at the Naval Reserve Air Base, Philadelphia, Pa., and is now awaiting assignment to one of the advanced aviation training centers.

The bureau of navigation recently received a request for active duty from Alexander J. MacDonnell, of Newport, R. I. He was born April 7, 1864, so unfortunately, was over the age limit. He served for four years in the U. S. Naval Reserve during the last World War and received honorable discharge. Each day brings forth new evidence of the continued spirit of the American people and the certainty of continuation of the traditions of the naval service.

Maybe it's because of the war and maybe it's because times are changing, but the fact remains that a great number of extremely young people are getting married these days.

On one particular day this past week, nine licenses were issued. In two cases the prospective bride was 18, two others 19, two 20, and two 21. On Saturday, three out of six applicants were under age.

Seems like the boys and girls grow less afraid every day.

One bottle in his collection is made of green glass, and, according to McElwain, it is one of the oldest ever manufactured.

UNIQUE TRAILER HAS BEEN CARVED FROM HUGE TREE

(International News Service)

KELSO, Wash.—During the next few months it is quite possible that you will see a man point toward a large house trailer and casually say: "Yes we grow fair sized trees out in Washington."

If this happens, be sure to take a good look at the trailer—it's probably the most unusual one in existence.

Armed with a letter of introduction to every governor in the United States and pulling a trailer behind their car, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Arnold of Kelso recently started on a tour of the country.

Their "modest" little trailer was literally carved from a section of a huge spruce tree taken from a forest near Lake Quinalt, Wash. Measuring eight feet by nine at the largest end, the trailer is 23 feet long and weighs 13,000 pounds although it was hollowed out leaving a four-inch shell for the walls.

The entire tree—the trailer was but a small segment—contained 13,000 feet of lumber.

PRIMITIVE FOOD

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—Honey, the oldest and one of the most popular sweets on the American table is also widely used today as a food among primitive races. They mix it with milk, curds, cheese and especially with cereals and bread. The Anavah tribe (Central Africa) make from maize flour, bananas and honey the so-called mkate, which is practically their sole food.

OPM To Police All Industries

Will Check Orders To See That Priorities Are Being Observed

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The O. P. M. has completed plans to send agents into the field to "police" industrial plants to determine whether they are conforming with priority orders affecting critical national defense materials.

The "policing" will be done by the newly created compliance and field section of the O. P. M.'s priority division. First objective of the bureau will be to help industrialists handle priority problems.

But equally as important is to be its job of seeing that factories conform with priority orders. Plants failing to conform with orders to conserve or cut use of scarce defense materials may find their supplies cut off.

Thirty-six regional offices are to be set up throughout the country for the new field unit.

Creation of the unit signals a new phase of the defense program. Hitherto in priority orders the O. P. M. had depended on voluntary co-operation from industry, but now in fairness to those who have co-operated it is prepared to crack down on those who have not.

One of the first jobs of "policing" it is reported, may be in the silk industry. On August 2, because of the American-Japanese crisis, priorities director Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., ordered all silk supplies in the United States frozen. Other products were ordered halted at midnight on that day.

UNIQUE BURGLARY CHARGE

DALLAS, Tex.—Henry King, who wasn't looking for anything to swipe, was charged with burglary in Dallas recently. King, according to officers, became involved in a burglary when he chased her down the street with a shotgun. She ran into a house for safety. King allegedly followed her into the house and out again, but she escaped. Assistant District Attorney Angelo Pirano explained that because he allegedly entered the house without the consent of the owner, and with felonious intent, to kill his wife, King is guilty of burglary.

Mullentowners Wait For Reunion Thursday

Mullentowners are looking forward to their annual school reunion which is to be held at Cascade Park, Thursday, August 21, and from all indications the old timers or most of them together with the younger tribes will be on hand to participate in the affair.

Mullentowners are unique when it comes to these get-together affairs and come far and wide that they may mingle with their old time school associates. The several committees having the affair in charge have arranged an interesting program for the affair and with pleasant weather for the occasion a record crowd is expected.

Word has been received from Clint L. Harris, now a resident of Philadelphia, Mont., where he is secretary and treasurer of the Mullentown Mining Co., that it will be impossible for him to attend this year's reunion, but that he is making arrangements to be on hand for the 1942 blow-out and will be accompanied by his family, including his brother and sisters who have not visited New Castle for a long time.

Mrs. Ida Suber, president of the association, has worked untiringly for the success of this year's reunion. She has the backing of the

Poisonous Snakes Showing Decrease

HARRISBURG, Aug. 18.—Poisonous snakes in the state forest areas have decreased materially during the last few years according to a statement issued today by Milford Bratton, chief of administration in the Bureau of Parks, Department of Forests and Waters. This decrease is attributed to the large number of people using the state forests and the work by the CCC.

Mr. Bratton points out that there are approximately twenty species of snakes commonly found in Pennsylvania, only two of which are poisonous. Copperhead snakes are distinguished by the copper-tinted arrow shaped head and the yellow and black markings on the back. The best identification of the rattlesnake is the set of loosely-jointed vertebrae on the end of the tail. One of these so-called rattles is added every time the reptile sheds its skin, which in some instances, is three times a year. The common belief that the age of the rattlesnake can be determined by the number of rattles is erroneous. The striking distance of these venomous is about one-third of the total length of the average reptile. Investigations have shown it is not necessary for a snake to coil before striking. Rattle snakes do not always rattle before striking.

Many tales with respect to experiences with snakes are reported each year. But those who have studied the subject of herpetology know that snakes do not milk cows, nor can they bite their tails, neither can they roll down hill. There is no authentic evidence that snakes are blind during dog days or that they bite themselves when irritated.

Injured. Their tongues are not poisonous since the venom is injected by means of fangs. These highly specialized structures are forerunners of the hypodermic needles of science. There are usually six to seven supplemental sets of immature fangs which are always ready to replace a broken set. The belief that snakes can charm birds or animals or that they chase people is unfounded.

HUMANS HAVE SAME TRAITS

All human beings have the same traits and capacities, a noted psychologist recently stated. Everyone has the ability to solve problems; all have some mechanical ability, some will power, some foresight, and some ability for salesmanship or self confidence, he states. The difficulty, he declares, is that the average person does not know how much of these abilities he has, or else he thinks he does not possess them.

Twenty-Eighth Division Will Give Cooperation

(International News Service)
INDIAN TOWN GAP, Pa., Aug. 18.—The 28th Division is cooperating to the fullest extent with the air branch of the service and today lacks but 28 men of its 300 quota.

Capt. Henry Matthews, post personnel adjutant and recruiting officer, expressed satisfaction at the rate of enlistments and said he expected many more volunteers now that Congress has agreed to extend army service for an additional 18 months.

Meanwhile, plans for sending thousands of troops from the Iron Division to field maneuvers at the A. P. Hill Military reservation in Virginia neared completion.

Advance details of the Pennsylvania troops will leave on or about August 23 with the main body of soldiers scheduled to depart two days later.

Graham Against Draft Extension

By ARTHUR C. WINNER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 18.—Pennsylvania's delegation in the House of Representatives by a margin of more than two to one opposed legislation passed last week authorizing the President to keep draftees in service an extra 18 months.

Of the 33 votes cast by the Pennsylvania group, only 10 were for the bill and 23 were against. All 10 members who voted for passage were Democrats. Voting against passage were 14 Republicans and nine Democrats. The bill was passed by a 203 to 202 ballot after a dramatic night session.

Representative Louis E. Graham of Beaver was among those who opposed the legislation.

Censorship Recommended For Press-Radio-Pictures

F. D. R. Approves Army-Navy Plan

Proposed Law Would Prohibit Disclosure Of Military Secrets

STIFF PENALTIES FOR ANY VIOLATION

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—President Roosevelt today has approved a recommendation of the army and navy high command for prompt enactment of a law, imposing warlike federal censorship on the press, radio, motion picture industries and on all forms of communication in and out of the continental United States.

Under plans drawn by the army-navy high command, initial steps in censoring the American press, radio and motion picture industries would be restricted to measures prohibiting disclosure of military secrets.

I. N. S. commented:

EDITOR'S NOTE: The extent of this proposed compulsory censorship appears to be similar to the voluntary censorship, self-imposed by International News Service on its world-wide organization since last January at the specific request of Navy Secretary Frank Knox. Under voluntary censorship, International News Service refrained from publishing news of ship movements, both American and British, troop movements, military inventions and production of weapons. For its ardent enforcement of this voluntary censorship, International News Service has won frequent commendations from high army and navy officials.

Unlike the voluntary censorship now enforced by news services, newspapers and the radio, the compulsory censorship would be backed up by stiff jail and fine penalties in cases of violations.

Far broader powers, however, are proposed for control of all forms of communications entering and existing from the continental United States. This phase of the censorship would be as stiff as that imposed by the British or German governments.

Censorship Agency
The program contemplates establishment of an independent federal censorship agency, to be headed by a director, who will be paid $12,000 a year. The director would have army and navy assistants and a large array of aides from federal agencies.

The director's proposed authority to censor all forms of communications would be supported by a penalty provision, imposing prison sentences up to 10 years and fines up to $10,000 on violators.

The program has developed so far with the "inner circle" of the new deal as to promote a quiet contest over the identity of the censorship director. Some insiders are backing Lowell Mellett, administrative assistant to the president and head of the office of government reports. Army and navy leaders would prefer that Col. William J. (Wild Bill) Donovan, federal coordinator of information, get the post to combine censorship with his present duties.

The army and navy, however, intend to keep their fingers on the censorship control, regardless of the identity of the new director. Under the plan, already approved by the president, an army man would be appointed chief of all radio and cable censorship. A censorship advisory committee would be created by appointments from various federal agencies to advise the director.

Even Pigeons
Special provisions were written into the plan to control the use of homing pigeons. One proposal would require the registration and licensing of all persons or agencies, owning, possessing or using carrier pigeons. Another would require sale of all homing pigeons to the government if and as desired.

The program would give the censorship unit power to censor all mail, airmail, cable, radio, telephone, telegraph and teletype messages, and all other means of communications between the United States and its possessions or any foreign lands.

In order to lighten the censorship load on the postal service, the plan calls for creation of a federal licensing agency, separate from the censorship unit, to transmit newspapers, magazines and books to foreign countries. Exporters of these articles would be able to get a license to send their products abroad, without submitting them to the postal authorities for censorship.

The censorship would be launched with a $10,000,000 appropriation. The plan was drawn by a joint army-navy board headed by Maj. Gen. R. C. Richardson and Rear Admiral J. O. Richardson.

Has Splendid Fishing Success

Harvey W. Susio, R. D. Slippery Rock, brother of David Susio, local grocer, has returned, after attending the alumni reunion of the College of Mines, at Houghton, Michigan. While there he took time off for some fishing in Lake Superior, having unusual success. Among his catch were three lake trout, weighing 7½, 9½ and 17½ pounds respectively.

Salvaged Wood Goes For Paper Making

HARRISBURG, Aug. 18.—Salvage operations as a result of storm damage in the state forests of Potter County are now under way, and will produce approximately 500 cords of pulp-wood, according to W. E. Montgomery, chief of the division of management in the Department of Forests and Waters.

This storm which occurred on July 18, was unique in that it covered a strip ten miles in length and from one to two thousand feet in width. A large proportion of the trees within the area were bent over, blown down, or uprooted. The timber is of second growth from 6" to 10" in diameter. The large-toothed aspen is now being peeled and cut into suitable lengths for pulp-wood. The other timber will be salvaged later in the year.

Few people realize that newspapers are fibers of forest trees. Paper has always been made from a product originating in the soil, such as wood, linen from flax, or cotton rags. The News Print Service Bureau states that the annual supply of news print in the United States, if put together in a sheet 450 ft. wide, would reach from the earth to the moon. A single issue of a large metropolitan daily today requires more news print than was used in the United States in the year 1800. The drain from the state forests for pulp wood at the present time is less than 10 per cent of the total wood cut for all purposes.

The waste was the first paper-making machine. This insect uses a method similar to the one employed in some of the big paper production plants of today. The waste makes pulp out of small particles of wood by chewing them and when properly masticated lays the layer upon layer in building its house. It is recorded that early inventors took their ideas from this insect in making paper out of wood. It is said that the Chinese were the first people to make paper. The art was handed down from the East through Chinese prisoners of war captured by the Arabs.

Old Jail Cells Still Intact In Fire Station Here

Many Prisoners Have Been Housed In Basement Of Fire House In Past

Unused for many years, the old Mahoningtown jail, located in the basement of the Seventh Ward Fire Station, is still intact.

Two steel encased cells take up a large portion of one section of the fire station basement. The cells are still equipped with the bunks and other equipment, although prisoners have not seen the inside of the bars for many, many years.

Entrance to the jail room is gained through a door, separate from the fire station, and located on East Cherry street. In years past, when Mahoningtown was an independent borough, this jail was a popular place, and has housed its share of law breakers.

Many Cast Votes For Football Team

The ballot box that was placed in Solomon's News stand here to receive the local vote on the proposed change in the high school football team name has been removed and was found to contain quite a large number of votes.

The box had to be emptied one time previous to the end of the contest, in order to provide room for more ballots, it was learned.

Should any of the names suggested be adopted, the persons suggesting the one used will receive two season passes to the football games.

U. S. Army's Second Division Is Hailed As Best Equipped Armored Force In The World

(International News Service)
PORT BENNING, Ga.—To a public familiar with stories of broad stick rifles, stove-pipe cannon and trucks labeled "tank," General Adna R. Chaffee last month boasted that the U. S. Army's second armored division is "the most powerful striking force ever evolved by the mind of man."

Few took the general seriously. But the division headquarters have released statistics to prove it—to show that the "Hell on Wheels" division will go into the Louisiana maneuvers the best equipped, in both vehicles and weapons, of any armored force in the world.

In horsepower, firepower and number of vehicles, the second armored is already more heavily organized than Europe's best armored divisions, at their present top strength, officers here believe.

Strength steadily increasing. Tempo of army shipments is steadily mounting, it was said, and by the time the division enters its next sham battle, it will be up to 75 per cent of allowance strength in weapons and at a considerably higher strength in vehicles.

Fireman Killed By Derailed Of Fast Milk Train

Two Other Crew Members Injured In Accident Near Millburn, N. J.

(International News Service)
MILLBURN, N. J., Aug. 18.—Wrecking crews today sought to restore service on the main line of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad following the derailment last night of a milk train which resulted in the death of a locomotive fireman and the injuring of two other crew members.

Tracks and ties were ripped for almost 200 yards and the fireman, Leonard Pratt of Morris-town, N. J., was instantly killed when the locomotive and five cars overturned. The engineer, Henry Sullivan of Jersey City, N. J., was in a serious condition. A conductor also was injured. There were no passengers.

An obstruction on the track was blamed for the wreck but Millburn Police Chief C. Norbert Wade denied evidence of sabotage. The derailment blocked all three tracks of the main line which runs from Hoboken, N. J., to Buffalo. Passenger trains for Buffalo and Chicago were being rerouted through Passaic and Paterson.

New Castle All-Stars Battle Butler Tuesday

Phil Colella, 15-Year-Old Flinger, Will Start For Local Team

GAME IS LISTED FOR BUTLER PARK

New Castle's All-Stars, selected from a field of more than 200 free baseball school students, will play the Western Pennsylvania playoff championship Tuesday evening at 7:45 o'clock, in Butler.

The local youngsters, confident and in tip-top shape, face a similar aggregation flaunting the colors of Butler.

Admission to the game, carded for the Butler Yanks' park, is free.

New Castle's hopes of passing the first round barrier lay in the trusty arm of a 15-year-old lad, Phil Colella. The right-hander, the youngest starting pitcher in the Western Pennsylvania free baseball school, has an assortment of stuff that may be enough to halt the crack Butler combination.

Should Colella fail to bedazzle his foes, Walt Majors, Ed VanDusen, Carl Conner, or Jack Adams will receive the nod. According to Glen Whitham and Al Kreuz, instructors, Colella looms as one of the brightest prospects in the district.

"Ragsy" Gennock, the ex-New Castle high class expert, has been selected for the left field station. It was announced, Steve Shabala will serve as the local captain.

Pre-tourney competitors have lined New Castle as one of the early "kay" victims. Butler has drawn one of the spots accorded the favorites.

The local nine may turn out to be another wonder club, such as the 1940 club which marched to the Pennsylvania finals before succumbing.

Whitham and Kreuz today announced the probable starting lineup as follows:

West Pittsburg Defeats Elders

Dombeck Pitches Great Six-Hit Ball As Gas House Take League Win

Dombeck granted the Elder A. C. but six hits on Sunday afternoon at the West Pittsburg field as over 1,000 fans looked on, and the Gas House gang took a 3 to 1 win over the New Castle team in a City League battle.

James Marky with a terrific home run drive was the feature hitter in the game, with his brother John Marky having three hits. Withrow was the only Elder player able to get more than one hit.

Huck Davies did the Elder hurling and saved eight hits.

It was the eighth West Pittsburg win of the second half against six defeats.

Vanderbilt Makes a Catch

George Vanderbilt, socialite sportsman, is shown with a coat-mundi from Panama, a relation of the American racoon, which he brought back to Los Angeles after a South Pacific cruise aboard the schooner-yacht Pioneer. Vanderbilt, who was accompanied by his wife, also bagged a number of other rare animals and birds during the voyage. (Central Press)

Whitlow Wyatt Grants Braves One-Hit As Cards And Pirates Split

INDIANS DROP TWO TO WHITE SOX

By PAT ROBINSON
(International News Service Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—John Whitlow Wyatt was so near and yet so far from baseball immortality today that he admitted was a sad man.

He tried to smile when he and his Brooklyn teammates rolled back home from Boston, but being deprived of pitching a "perfect" game is not easy to laugh away.

"Guess it just wasn't in the books," he said, "that I should get by that last inning."

"But it sure did nettle me to see that hit."

"Oh, well . . ."

And that's about how this 32-year-old Brooklynite must have felt yesterday when Phil Masi of the Braves slashed out a single in the ninth after Wyatt had retired 25 men in a row.

Wyatt struck out the next batter and forced the third one to pop out, but his chance to pitch the seventh "perfect" game in major league history was blown to the wind. The last moundman who accomplished the feat was Charley Robertson of the Chicago White Sox who turned the trick against Detroit April 30, 1922.

190th Men Are Excluded From War Maneuvers

Expense Of Moving Huge 155MM Field Rifles Is Held Too Great By Army

By SGT. JOHN BALL
(Special News Correspondent)
CAMP SHELBY, Mass., Aug. 18.—Pennsylvania's 190th Field Artillery—including New Castle's own Battery F and the Second Battalion Service Battery—will miss the gigantic Louisiana-Texas "mock war" of Uncle Sam's third army, it was learned here today.

Wholesale evacuation of 50,000 soldier-inhabitants of this vast military reservation will leave but a skeleton personnel of 3,500 men—including the New Castle boys—on this Mississippi camp ground.

The 37th and 38th divisions now are en route to the maneuver area, where operations will be centered for eight weeks.

Lt. Col. John T. Bell, of Punksawney, the 190th regimental commander, was the man who announced that the New Castle units would stay here to continue an advanced training program exclusively adapted to heavy artillery. The local group is a 155-millimeter heavy artillery regiment.

Miniature maneuver and field tactical problems have been created by Major Thomas G. Lewis (Lewisburg), the regiment's intelligence officer, and are scheduled for the sole advantage of the only "big gun" regiment in Camp Shelby.

The associate regiments of the 73rd field artillery brigade of which the 190th is a member, are now on their way to Louisiana. They are the lighter artillery sections of the brigade, the 166th field artillery (eastern Pennsylvania), and the 141st F. A. of Louisiana.

Reasons submitted by General March and Colonel Bell for the non-participation of the 190th in the large scale field exercises were, first, the expenses involved in transporting by rail 24 of the 15-ton 155mm field rifles to the theater of operations within the maneuver area would be overly prohibitive; and secondly, it would not be feasible to move the gigantic size and ponderous weight of the 155's into the swampslands of the Louisiana region. Thus the only intelligent decision to benefit the taxpayers' burden and at the same time not to harm the progress of the training set-up in this particular regiment was to deny the 1300 Pennsylvania artillerymen the opportunity to show their merits at this time in the field.

Capt. George F. Mitchell commands battery F, while Capt. William H. Goehring, Jr., heads the service battery.

Crowd At Park Hears Dr. McClure

Second U. P. Church In Charge Of Service; St. Andrew's In Charge Next Week

There was a large crowd at Cascade Park Sunday evening to hear Rev. Walter E. McClure, D. D., of St. Louis, Mo., who delivered the sermon at the union service in the community building. The Second United Presbyterian church was in charge with the pastor, Rev. J. Calvin Rose, conducting the service.

Dr. McClure was formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian church in this city and is now pastor of the Memorial Presbyterian church in St. Louis. Many of his friends in New Castle and vicinity welcomed this opportunity to see and hear him again.

Special music was presented by the choir of the Second church with Mrs. Robert McCrumb directing. Mrs. William Rainey, the church organist, was the accompanist.

There are only two more Sunday evening union services in this year's series, sponsored by the New Castle Ministerial Association. Next Sunday, August 24, Rev. Charles J. Burton of St. Andrew's Episcopal church will be in charge of the service. The preacher will be Rev. Sidney K. Bliss, new pastor of Central Christian church, and the scripture will be read by Griff Thomas. Special music is to be presented by members of the choir of St. Andrew's and Trinity churches and the community hymn singing will be led by David Lewis. Pianist will be Mrs. Ethel Evans and Miss Isabel Johnson.

ELKS AND MOOSE THRONG OUTINGS
City Lodges, Under Clear Sky, Stage Annual 'Family Frolics'

New Castle's largest outdoor fraternal frolics of the summer drew Moose and Elks lodge members and their families by the hundreds to two different picnic spots yesterday. Weather was perfect for the programs.

Moose picnic heads estimated that "close to 1,000, including all" joined in their outing at Idlewood Park popular picnic retreat along County Line road.

Heads of the Elks lodge said their festivities at Harris Park near Neshannock Falls, attracted one of the largest Elks picnic throngs.

At both picnic grounds the center of attention was the sports contests, conducted by hard-working committees. Feasting, of course, was in order, and band music helped enliven the Elks affair. The New Castle Concert Band, newly organized, played for the latter program.

In the happy crowds at both parks were guest lodgemen who came here to see their families from distant points.

Huge Steel Plan Possible In West

OPM Considering Erection Of $150,000,000 Plant On West Coast

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Plans to build a $150,000,000 steel plant on the west coast are being given serious consideration although they were once discarded by national defense officials.
A final decision is to be announced in a week or 10 days when the OPM makes known its recommendations for expansion of the steel industry to produce 15,000,000 more tons of the basic war metal annually. Steel companies already have submitted proposals to the OPM for a 12,000,000-ton expansion in annual output capacity while several other steel companies "are just now preparing programs" according to an OPM announcement.
The overall cost of the entire expansion program in steel is estimated at close to $1,500,000,000, most of which is to be government financed, particularly where the plants expansions are ordered to produce such things as big guns and armor plate.

Henry J. Kaiser, prominent west coast industrialist, first proposed the west coast steel industry. RFC Administrator Jesse Jones and OPM Director William S. Knudsen frowned on the plans, saying that it is better to expand existing mills rather than build entirely new facilities.
Other defense officials then scrapped the plan, and said that the project was dead. However, several factors since have revived the proposal to the point which high defense leaders say that it is being given "serious consideration."

EXTRA FINGERS LIKED
CAPE TOWN.—Because it had 12 instead of the normal 10 fingers, a baby girl was welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. L. Kenned of Paarl, South Africa, for they considered it a good omen. Mrs. Kenned has 12 fingers and says she has been lucky all her life. Her father also had a dozen digits. Her two sons had the same number. One was lucky, she says, but the other had his extra finger cut off and died at 20.

Unrest Is Growing In Conquered Lands

By MERRILL MUELLER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON, Aug. 18.—Unrest—which eventually may develop into revolt—is growing in Nazi-occupied territories, according to information in the hands of the British foreign office and continental governments-in-exile.

The role of the United States in the war was credited by the foreign office and free governments of France, Norway, the low countries and other nations with giving strong impetus to a new surge of opposition to the Nazis in occupied zones.
Belief that the United States will prove supreme in the present struggle, a foreign office source said, is adding discontent in the conquered nations.

Feeble Yet
But it was admitted that the spirit of revolt still is feeble in the occupied states, where the people are without unity, without weapons, and almost without hope.
Nevertheless it was said that the Democratic-minded peoples daily are showing more openly their opposition to Nazi rule, and this feeling of protest was reported to be spreading even into the countries, such as Italy, which are directly allied with the Reich.

During the last week I was permitted to study information delivered by devious channels to the various leaders of the free governments in London and to informed persons close to Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.
Without exception these accounts show that the Nazis have not been able to conceal the beginning of a new attitude growing out of increased American interest in European affairs.

Need Arms
But the day of serious revolt in Europe still lies in the future. British and free government officials conceded. Arms are still needed, better organization is needed, and another Nazi defeat, such as the Germans suffered in the aerial battle of Britain, is needed.

The first two elements, arms and organization, are being supplied as rapidly as possible.
As a matter of fact fighting of a rebellious nature actually is going on in Yugoslavia and Crete, according to word received in London. More than 100 Yugoslav guerrillas, with equipment which includes anti-aircraft guns have been harassing the Nazis from hill positions and engaging in minor sabotage, thefts of supplies and killing of sentries.

A surprise developed in the middle east, reports added when a few hundred isolate British and Greek troops in the hills of Crete opened up a guerrilla campaign against the conquerors of the island.
The London Daily Express reported from Cairo that Tsar Boris of Bulgaria is a "virtual prisoner" in his country castle after three attempts to assassinate him in the last two months. A number of Bulgarian students and Comitati—members of the Yugoslavian terrorist organization—were executed after the second and third attempts, the Express said.

Dr. Eckles Reports Communicable Ills Of Three Counties

One case of mumps in New Castle and three cases of whooping cough in Slippery Rock township constituted the communicable diseases developing in Lawrence County during the week ending August 14.
For Beaver and Butler counties the weekly health summary of Dr. Donald H. Eckles, district medical director for the state, showed:
Beaver County: Measles, four; mumps, three; and tuberculosis, one; Butler County: Mumps, two.

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Trachoma is a loathsome, dangerously contagious eye disease. Sulfanilamide has been found to be a cure in many instances.
Trachoma has claimed 70,000 victims in the United States. It is prevalent in those eastern countries now at war.
It spreads rapidly when troops and civilian refugees mingle.
Trachoma leads to ulceration of the cornea and blindness.
Lack of adequate washing facilities encourages the disease.
Crowded living conditions aid in its spread.
Sulfanilamide, given internally has worked wonders with trachoma. The day after the first dose, the eyes begin to clear.
Light sensitivity and excessive watering of the eyes stops.
Arrested cases are reported after only one month's treatment.

OFFERS AUTOISTS ADVICE ON HOW TO SAVE GASOLINE

(International News Service)
TOPEKA, Kan. — Madame La-Zonga and her famous "six lessons" had nothing on D. J. Fair, Kansas highway director, who recently listed a half dozen instructions designed to give motorists more mileage per gallon of gasoline.
His hints, intended to forestall possible necessity for rationing fuel, include:
1—Frequently clean air filters and spark plugs, adjusting the latter every thousand miles;
2—Inflate tires properly, both for longer wearing and less resistance to pulling;
3—Park cars in the shade, whenever possible, as fuel vaporizes easily in hot weather through the tiny air hole in the gas tank cap;
4—Keep batteries well charged to avoid waste through slow grinding starts;
5—Drive at moderate speeds, because it takes one-third more gasoline to travel a mile at 60 m. p. m. than at 40;
6—Learn the economics of gasoline consumption by proper driving practices.

Dr. Shoaff's Son Honored At Culver
Honor cadet rating at Culver Military Academy, symbolized by the winning of the Gold Tuxis medal, has been earned by Paris A. Shoaff III, son of Dr. and Mrs. Paris A. Shoaff of 1405 Highland avenue. He received the award at the academy in Culver, Ind., during the past week.
The Gold Tuxis is one of the highest medals awarded in the Culver summer schools and usually cannot be won by a summer school student in either the cavalry or naval schools until he has started his third summer at the school.
Two other medals, made possible under the Tuxis system of all-round development, and which are prerequisites for the Gold Tuxis are the Bronze and Silver Tuxis medals. These may be won during the first and second summers that a student is enrolled at Culver.

PLANT STINGS VISITOR
SYDNEY — One visitor to the botanical exhibits on the University college grounds in Auckland, New Zealand, was surprised and intensely pained when a plant stung him. Inadvertently he had touched the onga onga, or urtica ferox, with his fingers. The onga, as described by T. L. Lawrence, associate professor of botany, is the most painful of stinging plants in New Zealand. The stalks and midrib of its leaves are covered with hairs, the tips of which break off and allow an organic acid to be injected when touched.

CARDINALS DESTROY INJURIOUS PESTS
Howard Butler of R. D. Mt. Jackson recently watched a pair of cardinals catching and feeding on the polyphenus moth, on his premises.
After the moth was captured, the male cardinal proceeded to strip the large wings from off the moth's body. This done, the male broke up the creature's body, and fed portions of it to the female bird.
Owen Fox states that this moth, in its larval state, is very destructive to growing vegetation. It is one of the larger moths, and cardinals seem to delight in hunting for these injurious pests, destroying them, thus rendering much service in the protection of vegetation.
